

Public Broadcasting Education and Digital Technology Research Survey

Welcome!

Thank you for taking part in the Public Broadcasting Education and Digital Technology Research Survey.

The survey asks public broadcasting licensees about their current education work, what kinds of education services stations would like to provide in the future, and what barriers stations might face in getting to that future. Below you'll find additional information about the survey. The survey is part of a larger research initiative intended to support CPB's education related advocacy, policy, and grant-making work.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Your responses will be kept CONFIDENTIAL. Survey responses will be aggregated and the final report of findings will NOT identify any individual or station.

KEY POINTS ABOUT THE SURVEY

1. The survey is designed so that it can be completed quickly by a small group of colleagues. Depending on the number and type of education services your station provides*, the time needed to respond will vary. Field tests of the survey indicate it typically takes between 30 and 120 minutes to complete.
2. Almost all questions ask for information not previously gathered in other surveys.
3. The survey has benefited from input from members of the AGC Education Committee, as well as others across the system.
4. Surveys must be completed by Friday, JULY 27, 2007.
5. A findings report will be distributed by CPB this fall.

*For ease of reading, the survey will use "services" rather than "service or services."

Public Broadcasting Education and Digital Technology Research Survey

SURVEY TECHNOLOGY

SRI researchers are administering this survey using a survey application service provider (Survey Monkey) to make this survey available online to public broadcasting licensees.

Each licensee has a unique URL (Web link) that allows respondents to access only their copy of the survey. Anyone at the station may use the URL to access the survey.

Only one person should access the survey at any one time, but input should come from a team.

Moving forward or backward automatically saves the information respondents have entered.

To end an online session if you are not completing the survey in one sitting, simply close the browser window. Your completed responses will be stored on the Survey Monkey server. If you reopen the survey at a later time, your browser should return you to the next question that has not been completed. If a colleague has completed some questions since you last did, your browser should place you at that point in the survey.

Licensees may respond to the survey (adding, deleting, or changing responses) at anytime during the four weeks the survey is open.

BRING A TEAM TOGETHER

Completing the survey should be a group effort. The GM and those responsible for making decisions about education services, as well as those who carry out those services, should work together to provide information. Keep in mind that you need not complete the survey in one sitting. For example, you can complete one section, save it, and return to other sections at a later time.

EDUCATION SERVICES

Broadcast television programs (all by themselves) should not be considered EDUCATION SERVICES.

Rather, education services include the following:

- a) PROGRAMS OR ACTIVITIES the station offered to multiple participants. For example, professional development institutes for science teachers or online courses for childcare providers.
- b) MATERIALS OR RESOURCES the station distributed or made available. For example, a web portal of education resources or a curriculum distribution service where a station may distribute materials to local educators.
- c) INFORMATION OR REFERRALS like a telephone information line for adult learners or a link or set of links on the station Web site that directs people to outside resources such as PBS Parents.

SURVEY OVERVIEW

The survey has the following sections and approximate completion times:

1. Current Education Services and Associated Technology Applications (30 min.)
2. Two Current Education Services in Detail (40 min.)
3. Education Services Planned for the Future (10 min.)

4. Big Wishes, Big Dreams: Desired Education Services (20 min.)
5. Licensee Education Services Profile (15 min.)
6. Survey Demographics (5 min.)

Public Broadcasting Education and Digital Technology Research Survey

TIME FRAME

This survey covers education services offered by your station between January 2006 and June 2007. Please include all education services that were active during this timeframe, regardless of start or end date.

DEADLINE

Your station has four weeks, from Monday, JULY 2, 2007, through Friday, JULY 27, 2007, to complete the survey.

ABOUT THIS RESEARCH

This survey is part of a larger research effort sponsored by the Education and Media Technologies groups at the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, with support from the AGC Education Committee and PBS.

CPB and the Education Committee believe this research is important because (a) education is becoming an increasingly important lever with respect to station funding and partnerships, (b) a clear national snapshot of the system's education work will tell a powerful story, and (c) what is learned here will help stations and the system in future planning.

The survey and the larger research effort are being carried out by researchers in the Center for Technology in Learning at SRI International, a non-profit research institute.

OVERALL CURRENT EDUCATION SERVICES

This section of the survey asks licensees to report on their education services offered from January 2006-June 2007, as well as the technologies associated with these services.

As a reminder, education services include:

- a) PROGRAMS OR ACTIVITIES the station offered to multiple participants. For example, professional development institutes for science teachers or online courses for childcare providers.
- b) MATERIALS OR RESOURCES the station distributed or made available. For example, a web portal of education resources or a curriculum distribution service where a station may distribute materials to local educators.
- c) INFORMATION OR REFERRALS like a telephone information line for adult learners or a link or set of links on the station Web site that directs people to outside resources such as to PBS Parents.

Broadcast television programs (all by themselves) should not be considered EDUCATION SERVICES.

1. Did your station offer ONLY information and referral services between January 2006 and June 2007 (e.g., links to PBS Kids and/or PBS Parents on station Web site)?

(Choose one.)

- Yes (If yes, you will be directed to general questions about your station. It is still very important that you complete the remainder of the survey.)
- No (If no, you will be directed to specific questions about your station's education services, followed by general questions about your station.)
